

DISCOVERING HEALTHY RELATIONSHIPS

Who is this for?

Followers of Jesus (Christians).

Overview:

The most important commands in the Bible have to do with our relationships (Matt. 22:34–40). There is nothing more important than our love relationship with God and with one another. Many Bible scholars believe that Paul provided lessons on household relationships for churches. (See Eph.5:23–6:9 and Col. 3:18–4:1) The New Testament letters to churches are filled with relationship advice. This series lays a foundation from our position before God and explores His plan for the structure of human institutions. Readers are encouraged to consider how they can develop a deeper relationship with God and extend the mercy and grace that we have received from Him in human relationships.

Passage list is under development.